

Mission Driven Community Members Needed

Crowley House of Hope, like all non-profit organizations, is governed by a Board of Directors. Our current Board has six members, but our growing organization needs a few more to assist in guiding us through the years ahead.

Wondering what serving on a Board of Directors is all about – here are the primary responsibilities.

MISSION Crowley House of Hope seeks to serve those in need by providing high-quality food, financial assistance, medical care, and seasonal outreach programs. The Board of Directors is responsible for fostering this mission by supporting staff and volunteers in the provision of these services.

OVERSIGHT Members are responsible for overseeing the Executive Director. This oversight includes an annual review of the organization's work and efforts, guidance on new programs, and areas for improvement. The responsibility of oversight also includes preparing and evaluating the annual budget and reviewing financial decisions on behalf of the organization.

RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT As a non-profit organization, Crowley House of Hope relies on in-kind and financial support from corporations, congregations, and individuals. Members are responsible for developing these financial resources through communication and introduction to the organization.

OUTREACH Members act as ambassadors for the organization to the wider community, working to make the organization's efforts known. Outreach means attending community events held on behalf of the organization, participating in community conversations to learn how the organization can assist, and connecting the organization with new partnerships.

Crowley House of Hope's Board of Directors meets quarterly, with regular email communication between in-person meetings. Members are also asked to volunteer, make an annual financial contribution, and be available for public events.

If you feel you have the time, talent, and connections to devote to helping this growing organization navigate the years ahead, please contact Crowley House of Hope at 817-297-6400 for next steps.
